Greetings!

We'd like to introduce our band with the goal of playing our exciting mix of jazz and/or pop covers at your establishment or function.

We are a five-member group of highly trained musicians with a unique, soulful, fun sound and a great mix of talent and personality. You'll see from our playlist that we cover tunes from 1940's jazz to classic hits from artists such as The Beatles, Carole King and Stevie Wonder, on up to great modern songs from performers including Pink, Coldplay and Norah Jones. We make the songs our own with new arrangements and incredible solos.

Our style lends itself to both restaurant/bar settings and private functions. We've enjoyed enthusiastic feedback at every gig, had crowds dancing for hours, and built a large mailing list that's always growing. Our members hail from the Metro West and Boston areas.

We invite you to visit our website, www.lynnjandthepulse.com, where you can watch a video of a live performance, listen to MP3s of several songs and view our performance calendar.

BAND BIOGRAPHY

Bringing new life to her love of singing, Massachusetts vocalist Lynn Jolicoeur sought out top-notch, veteran musicians to form her band, Lynn Jolicoeur and The Pulse, in the fall of 2008.

Lynn's passion for music and singing since an early age has led her to perform in choruses and musical theater and receive classical voice training. After pursuing a higher education and career in television news while continuing choral singing, she knew she had to realize her long-held dream of singing with her own band. Musicians and non-musicians alike have often commented on the beautiful tone and rich quality of her voice no matter the style of music. She's found the most enjoyment singing songs with which she can connect emotionally – from jazz standards to current pop tunes and ballads. The Pulse features intuitive pianist Steven Travis, who has been performing in professional bands since the age of 11 and teaches
